

Armed Robbery Survival Training

Training that could save a life.

Are your staff prepared?

Research tells us the first 3 seconds of an armed robbery will determine whether the person being robbed will live, die or be seriously injured. Would you or your staff know what to do in the event of an armed robbery?

Being untrained could cost a life

Businesses need to prepare staff with the ability and confidence to cope with potential violence in the workplace. Being untrained creates the risk of mistakes that can cost a life or cause serious injury to staff and customers.

The Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 focuses on providing a safe working environment for you and your staff. For many businesses, armed robbery is an identified risk. Armed robbery survival training assists in the mitigation of this risk.

Give your staff the skills they need to cope

Your employees will learn skills that will help them manage their emotions, maintain body movement and communication – vital components to maximising their survival. This is a practical programme run by instructors with experience working in high-risk environments including the Police Armed Offender Squad.

This course provides a practical programme that will:

- Deter potential robbers
- Establish awareness of safety procedures and behaviour prior to, during, and following an armed robbery
- Minimise the effects of an armed robbery on staff
- Support your existing armed robbery response guidelines
- Provide staff with knowledge on how to reduce the physical and psychological risks to themselves and customers in the event of an armed robbery
- Assist the Police with positive information about the crime and preserve evidence and the crime scene

The comprehensive programme includes:

- Armed robbery crime trends
- Ways of reducing the likelihood of armed robbery
- The psychology of crime
- Firearm and weapon identification
- How the business and staff can cope with the effects of post-traumatic stress
- Observational skills that may assist in identifying suspects and robbers

Make sure your staff are trained to cope

Just half a day's training could mean the difference between surviving or losing a life.
